

It has been a pleasure to sit down and eat a meal without the phone ringing with someone trying to sell me something I neither want or need. I have tried to be nice but if the courts or whomever decides to strike down our No Call Law then I will be forced to be as rude as some of these callers have been in the past.